

Contents

|          |                                                       |    |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------|----|
| 1 | Introduction                                   | 1  |
|          | Culture, Landscape and Forest                         | 2  |
|          | The Urban Era                                         | 3  |
|          | Cities and Trees                                      | 5  |
|          | Cities and Forests                                    | 7  |
|          | City Forests as Cultural Landscapes, Place, and Space | 11 |
|          | The City Forest Defined                               | 14 |
|          | Contents of This Book                                 | 16 |
| 2 | The Spiritual Forest                           | 19 |
|          | Ancient Spiritual Links Between Forests and People    | 20 |
|          | Forest and Religion                                   | 21 |
|          | Forest and Myths                                      | 26 |
|          | Modern Spirituality                                   | 30 |
|          | Recreating Spiritual Links                            | 33 |
| 3 | The Forest of Fear                             | 37 |
|          | Primeval Forest Fear                                  | 38 |
|          | Criminal Forests                                      | 40 |
|          | Nature's Dangers                                      | 44 |
|          | From Fear to Excitement                               | 46 |
| 4 | The Fruitful Forest                            | 51 |
|          | Subsistence Forests                                   | 51 |
|          | Appropriation of City Forest Use                      | 54 |
|          | City Forests and Societal Development                 | 56 |
|          | The Rise of Municipal Forestry                        | 59 |
|          | The Fruitful Forest Today                             | 63 |
| 5 | The Forest of Power                            | 67 |
|          | From Wooded Commons to Elitist Prestige               | 68 |
|          | Military Forests                                      | 72 |
|          | City Forests and Democratisation                      | 75 |

|           |                                                      |            |
|-----------|------------------------------------------------------|------------|
|           | Antidote to the City . . . . .                       | 83         |
|           | Recreate and Enjoy . . . . .                         | 87         |
|           | Window to the World . . . . .                        | 91         |
|           | News Ways of Escaping . . . . .                      | 92         |
|           | Different People, Different Escapes . . . . .        | 95         |
|           | Escape from City Rule . . . . .                      | 97         |
| 7  | A Work of Art . . . . .                       | 99  |
|           | City Forests as Inspiration . . . . .                | 99         |
|           | Designed Landscapes . . . . .                        | 102        |
|           | Settings for Art . . . . .                           | 106        |
|           | Art for Developing Community-Forest Links. . . . .   | 107        |
| 8  | The Wild Side of Town . . . . .               | 111 |
|           | City Forests and Nature Conservation . . . . .       | 112        |
|           | Nature Is in the Eye of the Beholder. . . . .        | 117        |
|           | Searching for the Urban Wilderness . . . . .         | 121        |
|           | Working with Nature. . . . .                         | 123        |
| 9  | The Healthy Forest . . . . .                  | 127 |
|           | Views on Nature and Health . . . . .                 | 128        |
|           | City Forests and Physical Health . . . . .           | 132        |
|           | City Forests, Mental Health and Well-Being . . . . . | 136        |
|           | Promoting the Healthy Forest. . . . .                | 139        |
| 10 | The Forest of Learning . . . . .              | 143 |
|           | City Forests as Testing Grounds . . . . .            | 144        |
|           | International Inspiration . . . . .                  | 148        |
|           | Demonstrating Forestry to the Public . . . . .       | 150        |
|           | Tomorrow's Forest of Learning . . . . .              | 154        |
| 11 | A Youthful Forest . . . . .                   | 157 |
|           | Children and Nature . . . . .                        | 158        |
|           | Forests as Settings for Play and Adventure . . . . . | 159        |
|           | City Forests and Education . . . . .                 | 162        |
|           | Developing the Youthful Forest . . . . .             | 165        |
| 12 | The Social Forest. . . . .                    | 169 |
|           | From Wooded Commons to Forests for All . . . . .     | 170        |
|           | Social Forests for Mass Use . . . . .                | 173        |
|           | City Forests as Social Stages . . . . .              | 177        |
|           | Social Forests and Place Making . . . . .            | 178        |
|           | Building Community Identity . . . . .                | 180        |

|           |                                                                   |     |
|-----------|-------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 13 | A Forest of Diversity . . . . .                            | 185 |
|           | Diversity in City Forests Over Time . . . . .                     | 186 |
|           | Changing Fashions . . . . .                                       | 188 |
|           | Growing Diversity in Forest Users, Uses and Preferences . . . . . | 189 |
|           | Growing Demands for Diversity . . . . .                           | 191 |
|           | Managing (for) Diversity . . . . .                                | 192 |
| 14 | A Forest of Conflict . . . . .                             | 195 |
|           | Urban Development Conflicts . . . . .                             | 196 |
|           | Conflicts over Forest Management . . . . .                        | 199 |
|           | Conflicts over Recreation . . . . .                               | 202 |
|           | Other Types of Conflict . . . . .                                 | 203 |
|           | Managing the Forest of Conflict . . . . .                         | 205 |
| 15 | A Forest for the Future . . . . .                          | 207 |
|           | Challenges in an Urban Era . . . . .                              | 208 |
|           | Developing Attractive Urban Landscapes . . . . .                  | 211 |
|           | Building Communities . . . . .                                    | 216 |
|           | Maintaining the Links with Nature . . . . .                       | 222 |
|           | Final Thoughts . . . . .                                          | 224 |
|           | Literature . . . . .                                       | 227 |
|           | Index . . . . .                                            | 259 |